

SVM ALL EUROPE SRI FUND

Short Report

Year to 31 December 2013

Key Objectives

The investment objective of this Fund is to achieve above average capital growth over the medium to long-term (although short-term investment opportunities will also be considered) and it aims to outperform the FTSE World Europe Index. The Fund will adopt a positive engagement approach towards investment and enter into meaningful and consistent dialogue with companies to ensure investors in the Fund have their assets working effectively.

Risk Profile

The Fund is exposed to market and currency risks as it invests in European companies. It also invests in companies outside the FTSE 100 Index which can be less liquid and may carry greater risk and volatility. The Fund is exposed to Sterling and a variety of European currencies as well as stockmarket fluctuations. The Fund does not actively hedge the currency risk of the portfolio.

Market Review

European equities made further progress in the period under review. Investors were encouraged by signs of improvement in virtually all the major economic zones. The recovery in sentiment towards the UK economy was particularly pronounced with economists scrambling to raise their GDP forecasts. The main surprise in the first half of the year was the extent to which the market was led higher by the more 'defensive' sectors. A more normalised pattern of performance was seen in the last six months as 'cyclical' stocks appreciated in tandem with the improving economic outlook.

The major economic event in the second half of the year was the 'will they, wont they' debate around when the Federal Reserve would begin to reduce the level of its asset purchases. After announcing they were going to proceed earlier than anticipated the Federal Reserve then surprised markets by announcing they were deferring their plans. The level of market volatility around these announcements demonstrates the impact unconventional monetary policy has had on market participants – if not the underlying economy!

Portfolio Review

The fund outperformed the benchmark during the review period due to positive stock selection. At a stock specific level the fund enjoyed strong performances from a number of industrial holdings including GKN, Norcros and Invensys. GKN and Norcros both benefitted from well-deserved re-ratings as their respective management teams delivered on their strategic plans. After a turbulent stock market existence spanning many years – and a couple of reincarnations – Invensys was finally acquired. The holding was one of the best performers for the fund in both 2012 and 2013 – the share price more than doubling in a little under twelve months. Other strong performers included: Vodafone, Huhtamki, Stada and Deutz

The main detractors to performance were the fund's oil and gas positions. The sector – and our holdings – suffered from a combination of poor drilling results and lingering concerns around the long term outlook for the oil price. As we wrote in the interim report we remain unconvinced that the development of unconventional hydrocarbons dramatically alters the longer term dynamics of the energy sector. Nonetheless, we did reduce our energy weighting over the period through a combination of takeover activity and selective sales.

A reduction in defensive positions as they reached our price targets was the main change in the portfolio. Conversely, the financial weighting was increased, notably through the purchases of Danske Bank, Aberdeen Asset Management and Aareal Bank.

Outlook

Valuation multiples have expanded, and equities are no longer cheap, but that doesn't mean is no scope for further upside. As long as the global economy continues to heal, equities will remain attractive relative to other asset classes. With the margin for safety reduced, however, stock selection and effective risk management will be paramount.

Investment Warning

Past performance should not be seen as an indication of future performance. The value of an investment may fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Currency movements may cause the value of your investment to fall as well as rise. Investing in smaller companies may increase the volatility of your investment.
